

Yiayia's Recording Studio
Covid-19 Protocol

Please do not come in if you have experienced any symptoms: a high temperature, a new, continuous cough and a loss or change to your sense of smell or taste. We will do our best to reschedule your session after you have received a negative test or the isolation period is over, whichever is soonest.

- All clients and staff must wash/sanitise their hands on arrival. Hand sanitiser is provided at the entrance.
- Staff on site are kept to the minimum required for the recording session. The number of people attending a session must be kept to a minimum. Any additional guests must be agreed with the studio prior to arrival. Remote access will be provided where necessary.
- No more than 6 people can be present at any recording session, not including staff.
- Bookings are structured so as to leave as much time between recordings as possible.
- Headphones replaced and pop shield swapped and disinfected between clients. Microphone's are sanitised before and after each use and assigned to the recording artist for the duration of the session.
- Routine cleaning of all recording spaces and frequently touched surfaces.
- Social distancing of a minimum of 2 meters maintained at all times. Recording artists and engineer will be in separate rooms as far as is practicable.
- If the engineer has to go into the recording space with the client to adjust mics etc, a face mask will be worn at all times.

Yiayia's studio is committed to taking all steps available to ensure the safety of our clients and staff.

Clients recording at the studio do so at their own risk.
